In 2007, a "fatal" car wreck had multiple medics pronouncing Lindsey Vertner brain dead and paralyzed. Amongst a multitude of injuries and battling to live, Lindsey acquired a rare outlook on life. Often referred to as a "walking miracle", she is an expert at teaching ambitious leaders how to master their mindset and live at their maximum potential for positive impact.

Founder of Lindsey Vertner, LLC, she's devoted to teaching millennial moms and startup entrepreneurs how to balance their lives and shift between their required responsibilities and their desired possibilities. Lindsey is also the co-founder of The Unleashed Woman – a nonprofit organization that uplifts women of all backgrounds through empowerment and networking events.

As a captivating speaker, Lindsey was nominated for the "Speaker Rising Star of the Year Award" at the prestigious SpeakerCon Convention. She inspires audiences to lean on her and take action immediately. At conferences, events, and corporate workshops, Lindsey serves by speaking life into otherwise "brain dead" situations. Highly engaging and interactive, she utilizes her inspirational experiences to provide practical and actionable tips. She guides listeners through finding the purpose in their pain and turning their breakdown into a breakthrough.

Lindsey's unique methodology, The 3 Pillars of Self, focuses on self-care, self-worth, and self-discipline and how each of these areas affect our personal and professional lives at a subconscious level. Her signature programming, First Class Life, teaches others how to create a life full of purpose, fulfillment, and happiness. With a master's in Professional Counseling & Coaching, Lindsey is a graduate of both Indiana University and Liberty University.
